The 1925 IANUA

ALICE-M. SALK

the Class of Jan. 1925

Presents the

JANUA

Alma Mater

Sweet be thy memory, High School of ours;
Fair be thy destiny, fadeless thy flowers;
Hearts that have loved and have won in life's fight;
Names that we honor thy standard hold bright.

Our Alma Mater dear, to thee we sing.
May all thy future years new honors bring;
May friends thy banners raise, thy foes grow less;
All love and praise to our old E. H. S.

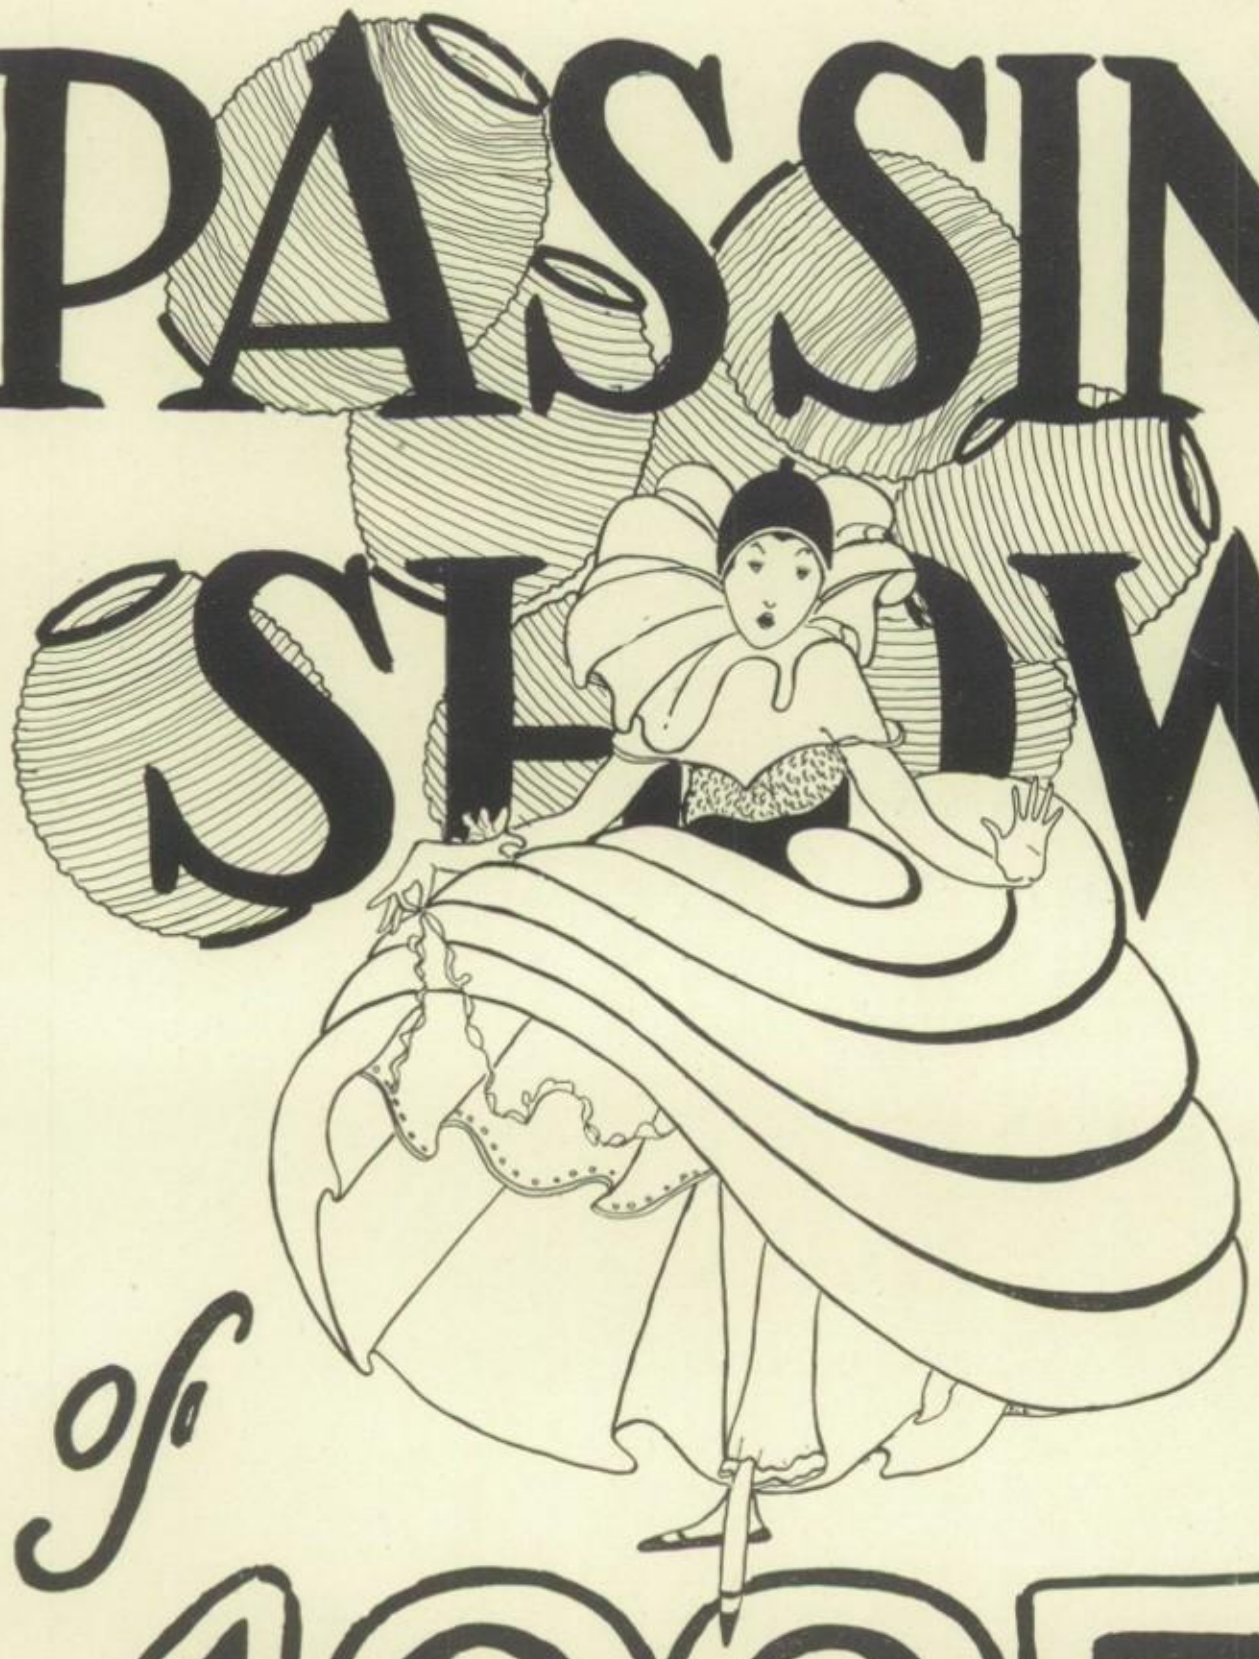
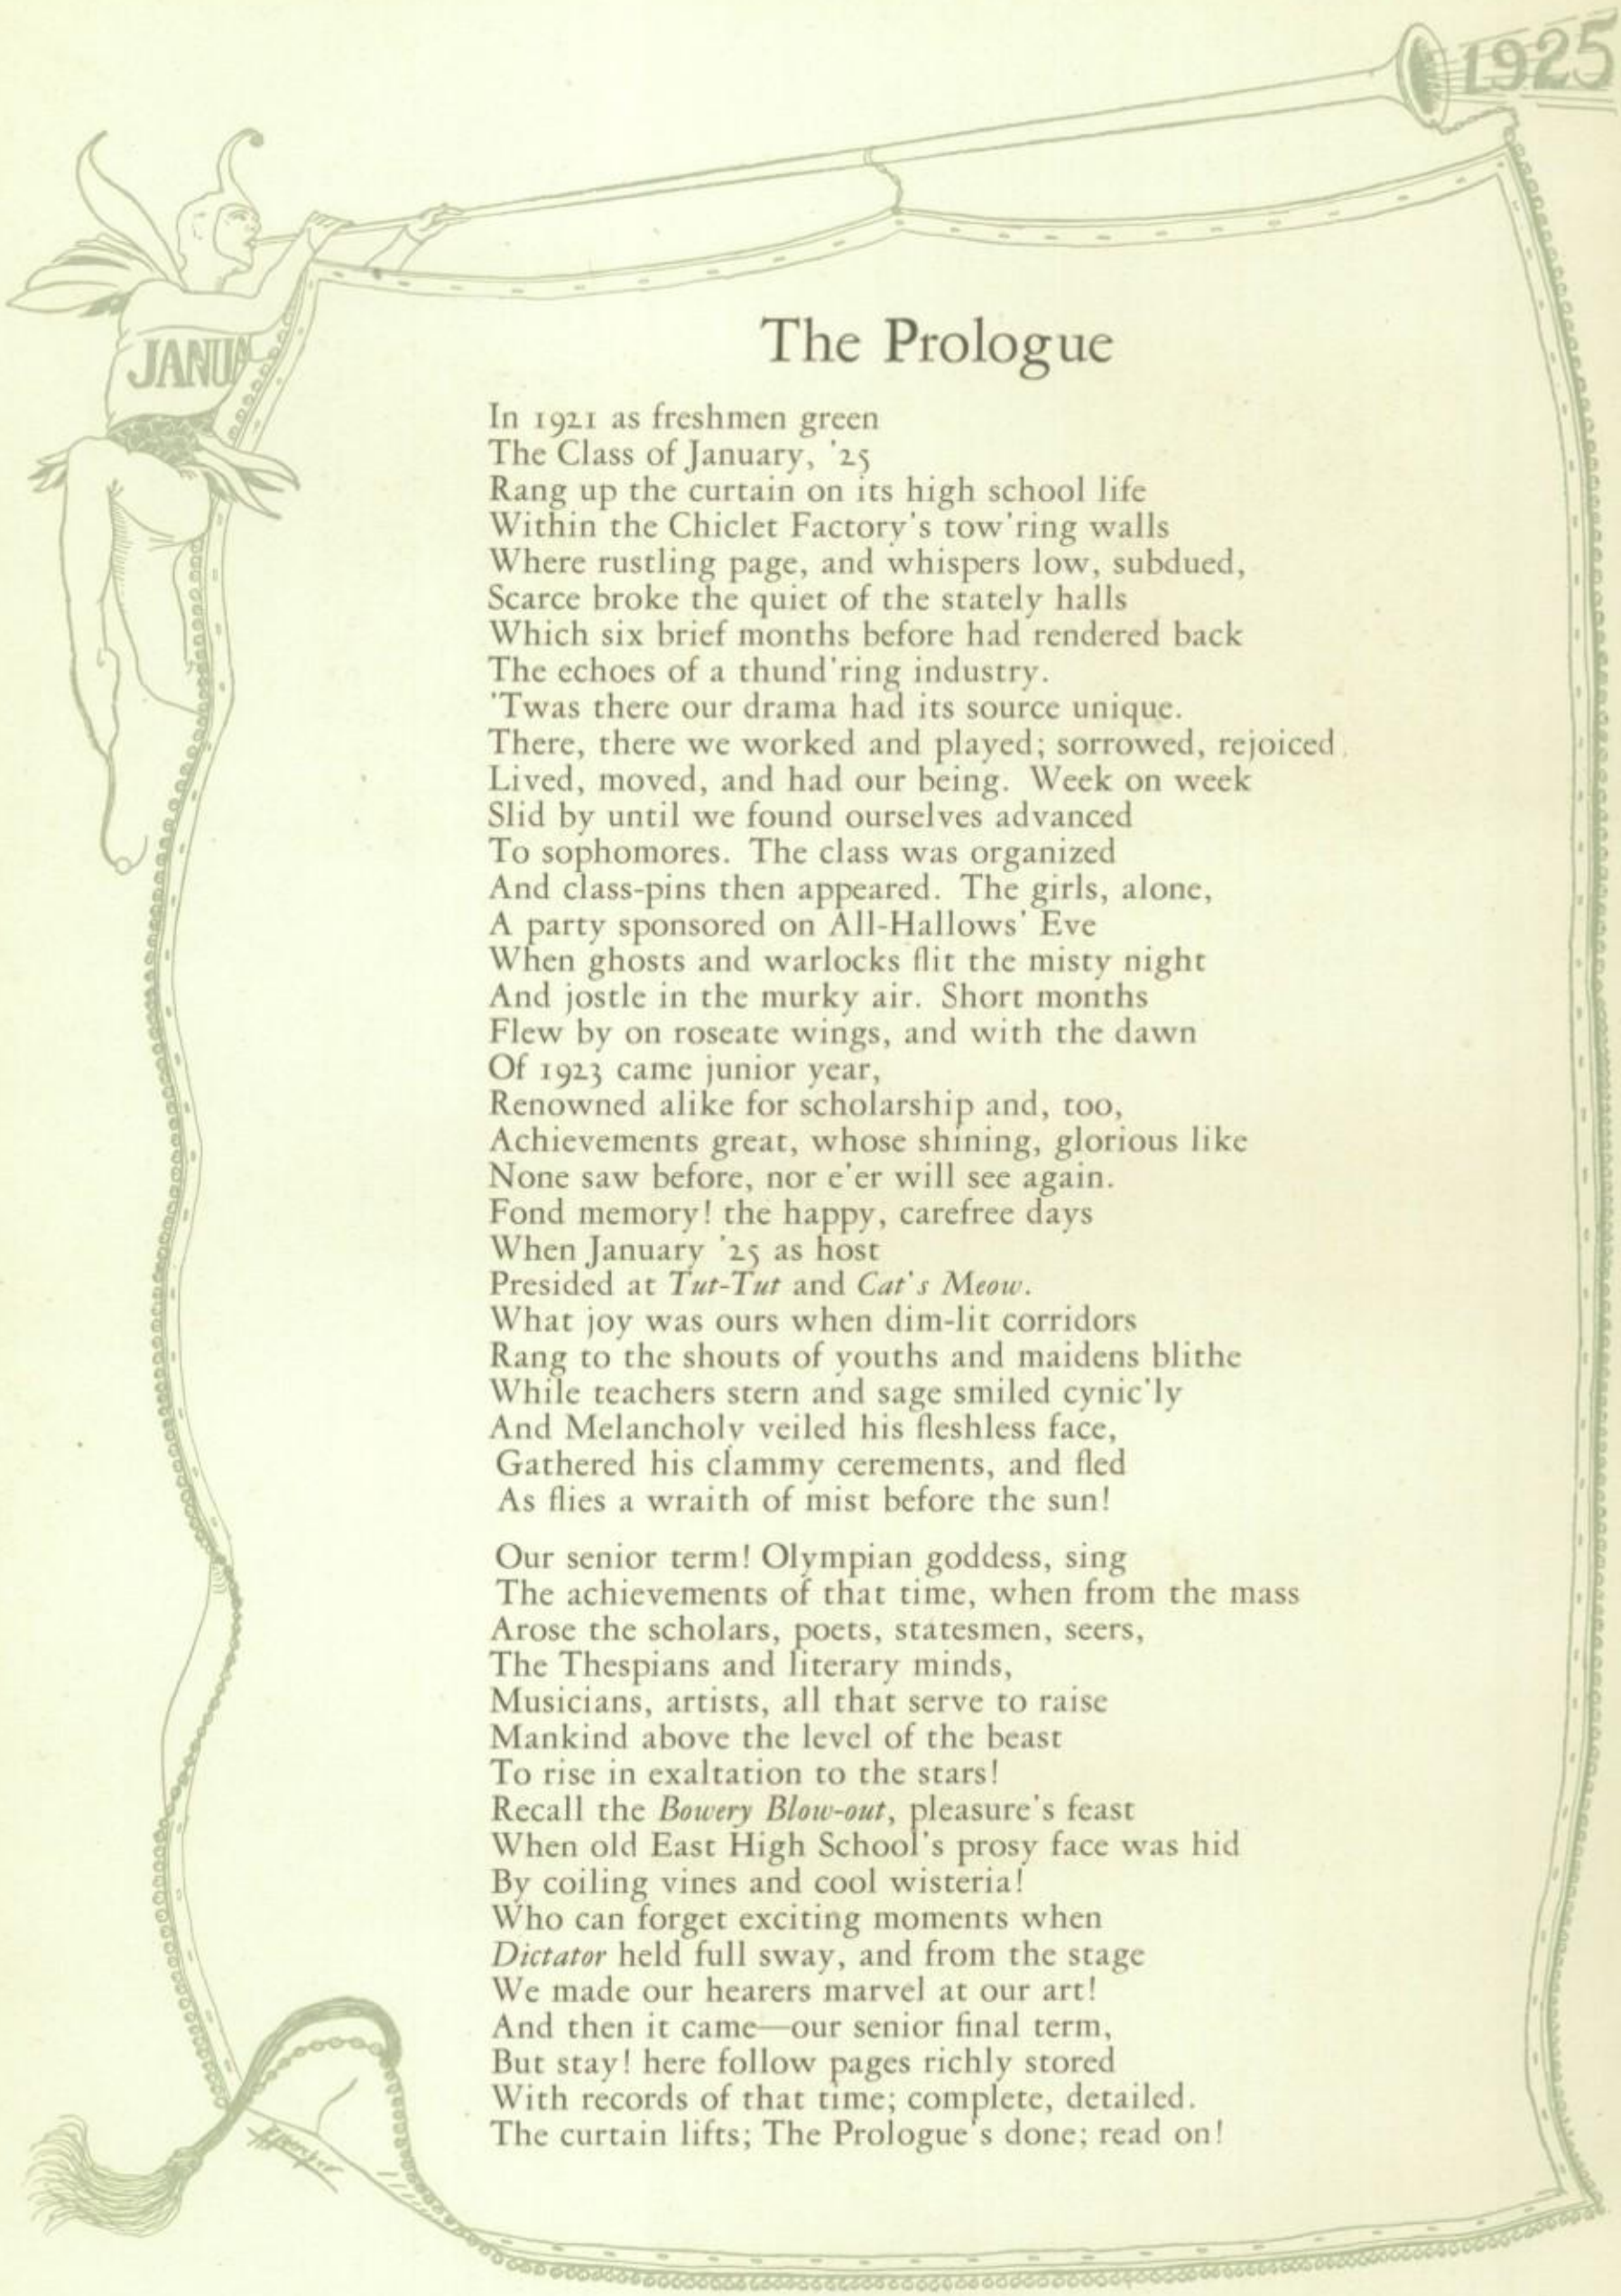
The PASSING SHOW of 1925





The Prologue

In 1921 as freshmen green
The Class of January, '25
Rang up the curtain on its high school life
Within the Chiclet Factory's tow'ring walls
Where rustling page, and whispers low, subdued,
Scarce broke the quiet of the stately halls
Which six brief months before had rendered back
The echoes of a thund'ring industry.
'Twas there our drama had its source unique.
There, there we worked and played; sorrowed, rejoiced
Lived, moved, and had our being. Week on week
Slid by until we found ourselves advanced
To sophomores. The class was organized
And class-pins then appeared. The girls, alone,
A party sponsored on All-Hallows' Eve
When ghosts and warlocks flit the misty night
And jostle in the murky air. Short months
Flew by on roseate wings, and with the dawn
Of 1923 came junior year,
Renowned alike for scholarship and, too,
Achievements great, whose shining, glorious like
None saw before, nor e'er will see again.
Fond memory! the happy, carefree days
When January '25 as host
Presided at Tut-Tut and Cat's Meow.
What joy was ours when dim-lit corridors
Rang to the shouts of youths and maidens blithe
While teachers stern and sage smiled cynic'ly
And Melancholy veiled his fleshless face,
Gathered his clammy cerements, and fled
As flies a wraith of mist before the sun!

Our senior term! Olympian goddess, sing
The achievements of that time, when from the mass
Arose the scholars, poets, statesmen, seers,
The Thespians and literary minds,
Musicians, artists, all that serve to raise
Mankind above the level of the beast
To rise in exaltation to the stars!
Recall the Bowery Blow-out, pleasure's feast
When old East High School's prosy face was hid
By coiling vines and cool wisteria!
Who can forget exciting moments when
Dictator held full sway, and from the stage
We made our hearers marvel at our art!
And then it came—our senior final term,
But stay! here follow pages richly stored
With records of that time; complete, detailed.
The curtain lifts; The Prologue's done; read on!

GERTRUDE A. SHEEHAN

HAROLD E. COWLES

Appreciation

THE Class of January, 1925, has been most fortunate in having Miss Sheehan and Mr. Cowles as advisors. Miss Sheehan has been our intimate associate since our freshman days in the Chiclet factory.

Mr. Cowles took Mr. Studley's place as advisor to the boys in the sophomore year.

To these two teachers, true friends and real companions, the Class of January, 1925, expresses its sincere appreciation.

Appreciation

Mr. Eddy became acting principal upon the departure of Mr. Wilcox for Europe. He proved an able successor in every way, and he has been truly missed this term.

GEORGE E. EDDY

Mr. Partridge was principal of the Goodman Street Annex when the Class of January 1925 entered—the first class to tread the halls of the Chiclet Factory.

He was a close friend in those far-off days, and the mutual interest has remained to the present.

EARL A. PARTRIDGE

Mr. Studley became the boys' home-room teacher and advisor when the class moved to the main building for the freshman final term. It was he who directed the first organization of the class, and though we have not seen much of him of late, the class still remembers him and feels his influence.

In Retrospect

THE course of none has been along so beaten a road that they remember not fondly some resting-places in their journeys, some turns of their path in which lovely prospects broke in upon them, some soft plats of green refreshing to their weary feet. Confiding love, generous friendship, disinterested humanity, require no recondite learning, no high imagination, to enable an honest heart to appreciate and feel them.—Talfourd.

Class Poem

Awake! O Vision twin-souled to the prophet's eye
That seeks to beckon, to descrie
The puffs of wind along the borderland!
The borderland, beyond whose ever shifting pall of smoke
The heady wisps of pain-enspiralled longings
Twist and gore the tender dreams exposed.

I stood and watched the writhings of those tortured, aimless things
'Till a bell pealed deep the hidden note of futile, careless rapture.

GEORGE S. CARHART

The Year in Publications

UNDER the supervision of Mr. Carhart, The Clarion has enjoyed an unusually successful season. Although there was at the beginning of the term some agitation for a return to the smaller, four-column sheet, this term's Clarion is not essentially different from that of the last semester in style or composition. It cannot but be said that The Clarion has endeavored to present the facts fearlessly and truthfully to the school at large, and it has succeeded admirably.

At the Eastern Interscholastic Press Association conference at Ithaca, The Clarion was awarded second prize. Rumor has it that the Association authorities refused to award the first prize to the same school four times in succession.

The Senior Annuals, the twice yearly publications of the ranking Senior Classes, are loyally supported by the entire school. The 1924 Orient, published by the Class of June, 1924, set a new mark for high school annuals which will be a challenge to many future year-books.

As to our own efforts, it must be said that we are proud of the 1925 Janua, but we will leave more detailed praise to you.

KATHERINE J. BURNS

Review of Dramatics

The year of 1924 witnessed several dramatic successes. January, 1925's, farce, The Dictator, appeared on the evening of April fourth, and was admittedly one of the best farces ever produced by East High School students.

An American Citizen, too, stood far in advance of the usual high school dramatization. The interpretive work of the actors and actresses, and the unusual scenic effects combined to make a very successful presentation.

Towards the end of the fall semester, the Class of June, 1925, revealed some unusual dramatic talent in an exceedingly clever and well acted farce, The Intimate Strangers.

While public opinion usually reflects credit or discredit upon the actors themselves, the responsibility of a successful performance devolves finally upon the one who directs the production. East High's Senior Classes are fortunate in having Miss Katherine J. Burns as an advisor in their dramatic ventures. The habitual success of all Senior plays speaks more for Miss Burns' ability than anything that might be written about her.

DAVID E. MATTERN

HOWARD N. HINGA

The Year in Music

This year the Band and Orchestra have been most active as East High School organizations. The combined groups have featured three concerts this semester, only one at school.

Besides these concerts, both organizations played at assemblies at various times during the term, affording much genuine pleasure to all who heard them. The Band is present at all games, and does much to increase the enjoyment of the spectators. The school at large does not seem to appreciate how Mr. Mattern with the cooperation of his students has worked faithfully to bring our Band and Orchestra to the present high state of perfection.

This term marked the debut of Mr. Hinga as director of the department of vocal music. As yet this year the Glee Clubs have given no concerts of their own, but the combined clubs and the two quartettes have been heard and enjoyed at assemblies. The Girls' Quartette has appeared also on several Band and Orchestra concert programs.

We have no doubt but that the Glee Clubs will be most successful in their future efforts.

SPORTS

JAMES H. FOWLE

ROBERT B. MC KAY

The Coaches

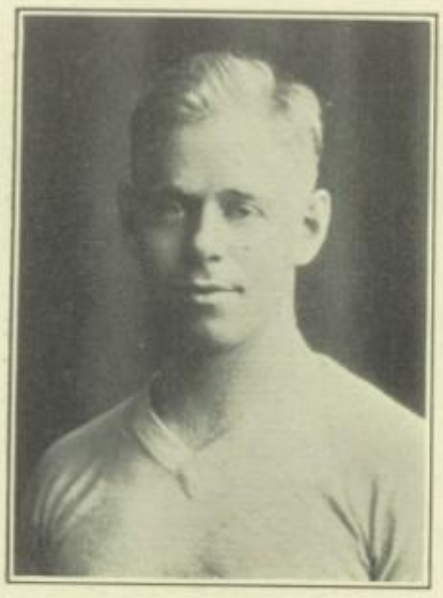
James "Doc" Fowle has been director of athletics at East High School for a great many years, and in that time he has developed team after team which made the name of East High School feared and respected in athletic circles throughout the state. But Doc's service to the school has been something deeper and more lasting than this.

Coach Fowle has instilled into the minds of hundreds of aspiring young athletes who have come under his tutelage, the spirit of fair play; he is a clean, fine sport himself, and always emphasizes the necessity of clean playing and friendly rivalry to his teams. As long as we have clear sighted, fair-minded men like Doc Fowle as leaders, no opening will ever be afforded to any unsportsmanlike element that might contaminate our athletic activities.

Robert "Pete" McKay, himself an athlete of no mean ability, is gifted with the ability to give to others some portion of his knowledge. His soccer teams have known no defeat in the past two seasons, and his wrestling and baseball teams have made enviable records.

Pete, too, teaches his men the fundamental principle of all competition, athletic and otherwise: fair play. His teams have spread the reputation of East High and the high ideals for which she stands. East High School's honor will never be marred with Doc and Pete as its guardians.

SOCCER



GREGG SWARTHOUT

ARTHUR E. CLARK

The Soccer Team

Captain Gregg "Heinie" Swarthout—Forward

Heinie Swarthout did not disappoint the pre-season dope that he was going to have a successful season. Besides being the highest individual scorer on the team, he contributed a great deal through his fighting spirit. His cool head and educated feet have made him one of the most feared men in the league. Heinie is one of the few "triple threat" men in soccer. He can pass, kick, or dribble equally well with either foot. He was the unanimous choice for center forward position on the 1924 all-scholastic team. His departure will leave a yawning gap in the line-up.

Hume "Dem" Deming—Forward

Dem Deming plays soccer with as cool a head as he plays baseball. Dem, who was second highest scorer of the team, worked hard all season under the eye of Coach McKay with the result that he compares now with the best forwards in the league.

Robert "Bob" Whiting—Forward

Bob Whiting, who plays one of the most difficult positions on the team, went through the season with flying colors. He is fast and goes through the opponent's backfield with great efficiency. Bob is the best left-legged booter in the league. He is a veteran of two seasons and East High will lose a good man when he graduates. Bob was chosen on the second all-scholastic team.

Fred "Fritz" Widmer—Forward

Fritz Widmer lived up to the reputation he gained in Junior High and added a little to it. Fritz is one of the fastest men on the team and he has helped to make East High's forward line known as the best working combination in the league. He will be back next year to answer the call. We predict great things for Fritz, as he is only a Soph now.

Yozo "Joe" Takagi—Forward

Joe Takagi began the season at goal, but was later shifted to the forward line. Joe's soccer brains and plucky spirit have made him a valuable man to the team. He will not be back next year.

EDWIN "PEM" PEMBERTON—Forward

PEM PEMBERTON was another of the last year's champion team who helped to keep the championship in East High. Pem is a clever player. He is a dead shot and excels in putting through free kicks. On him also rests one of the responsibilities for the smooth work of our forward line. Pem earned a position on the 1924 all-scholastic team.

ARTHUR "ART" LEHR—Halfback

ART LEHR was one of the most important cogs in Coach McKay's perfect machine. His clever backfield game furnished opposing teams with their unsolved problem. Art is the possessor of a wierd style of jumping and kicking in mid-air, and is able to place his kicks wherever he pleases. Art will be back next year as captain of the 1925 team.

HARRISON "JACK" FOLLETT—Halfback

JACK FOLLETT began the season like a veteran. He played the first few games like a strong, dependable old war horse, when he was forced out of the game by illness. He recovered in time to participate in some of the last games of the season. Follett will be back next season to help maintain the standards set by previous teams.

IVO DECALESTO—Halfback

DEKE DECALESTA played a great game at the halfback position for the Purple and White this season. He is a fast man and carries a mean boot in his right leg. His stellar playing earned him honorable mention on the all scholastic team this year. Deke will not be back next season.

NICHOLAS "NICK" NEIMI—Halfback

NICK is considered the find of the season. He had never played soccer before, but he learned rapidly. Nick was the best halfback in the league and filled that position on the 1924 all-scholastic soccer team. Nick was indirectly responsible for many of our tallies, because of his well directed passes to the forwards.

HOWARD "TIGER" FRECKLETON—Fullback

TIGER FRECKLETON, whose constant scrapping has earned him the nickname, has had a very successful season. He has been a tower of strength on the defense and his tremendous boots well past midfield, made spectators gasp. Time after time, this Oriental warrior drove the ball far out of the danger zone, and turned advances into retreats. Tiger was also one of the choices on the 1924 all-scholastic team.

EDWARD "ED" HAWKINS—Fullback

ED HAWKINS slipped into Dakin's place and made good. Always dependable and never excited, Ed stemmed many of the opponents' sharp attacks. He saved the goalie much trouble by his sure and long boots. Ed had a great deal to do with the low score of the opponents, and the high score of the Orientals. Hawkins will be back next season.

EDWARD "BUD" DAKIN—Fullback

BUD DAKIN had tough luck by being injured during the middle of the season. Bud has all the qualifications of a star. Before he was injured he was considered for an all-scholastic position. He recovered sufficiently, near the end of the season, to play a few minutes in some games, but he was not strong enough to last through a whole game. Bud may be back next year and we can see great things for him.

PAUL "MAC" MCCARTHY—Goalie

MAC MCCARTHY slipped in from the reserve team in the middle of the season and performed like a veteran. His height and ability to handle the ball earned him this promotion. Our protector snatched the star of fame from many opposing forwards by his miraculous stops and sterling performance under fire. Mac will not be back next year.

HAROLD "WHITEY" ANDERSON—Forward

WHITEY ANDERSON, the smallest man on the team, played a great part in maintaining the team's splendid record. With his speed and brains, he should under the super-coaching of Pete McKay become a star. Whitey plays in Swarthout's style.

The Soccer Team in Action

The pictures are of the East High-Technical game played on the Armory field. Just before the top picture was snapped Technical was penalized, and Gregg "Heinie" Swarthout is about to make the kick. Note the tense poses of (left to right) Pemberton, Widmer, Niemi and Whiting.

The bottom picture shows an exciting moment before East High's goal; Dakin has just headed the ball, with Tiger Freckleton wild to get a sock at it. Niemi stands ready to help, and Widmer is approaching on the run.

Basketball

Captain Gregg "Heinie" Swarthout—Guard

The veteran Heinie of last season's all-scholastic team is playing the game as of yore. His speed and deadly eye make him one of the best guards ever to have donned the East High uniform. Heinie, who finished among the ten highest scorers of the city last year, may be expected to finish well up in the scoring column this season. His loss to the team will be felt keenly.

Simon "Chick" Shapiro—Forward

Chick Shapiro, the little forward who played a fine game with last year's reserve, has earned a berth on the first squad. He possesses one of the best pairs of basketball eyes of all on the squad, and should rank high on the scoring list at the end of the season. Chick is slightly handicapped by his light weight, but makes up for it by his clever game. He will be back next season.

Fred "Fritz" Widmer—Guard

Fritz Widmer of soccer fame is out to win glory on the court. Fritz, who is wonderfully built for a basketball man, is fast, and has an exceptionally fine eye for the basket. He is only a soph now, and has plenty of time to add to his experience and ability under the supervision of Coach Fowle.

Morris "Horse" Carr—Center

Horse Carr has earned his pivot position by superb playing. Although not very tall, he makes up for this by his shift and natural talent. Horse is a two-gun man—he shoots with either hand with deadly accuracy. Carr was Captain of the reserves last season, and should do good work this year.

YOZO "JOE" TAKAGI—Forward

JOE TAKAGI was an utility man on the first squad last year, and has greatly improved since then. He is a fine scrapper, and always gives opposing guards plenty of trouble during the time that he is in the game. Joe is a bashful boy, and does not exhibit his top form when a crowd is out to watch him, but he will soon get over this weakness and hit his steady stride. Yozo will not be back for the next season.

ELI "EEL" BENSKY—Guard

EEL BENSKY, a veteran of last season, is again one of East High's back-court team. He has the ability and skill to develop into a real star. Eel, too, finished among the ten highest scorers of the city last season, and has a good chance to duplicate the performance this year. The Swarthout-Bensky guard combination is considered the best in the state; and there should be but little scoring done by the forwards who buck up against the Eel this winter. Bensky will not be back next year, and his presence will be greatly missed.

SAMUEL "KREPS" KREPACK—Guard

KREPS KREPACK, who played with the championship soccer team, now fills a place on the first basketball team. Sam has ability as a guard, and should make good when filling in at one of the positions. It is too bad that Sam will not be back next year, as he could be developed into an excellent guard by Doc Fowles' coaching.

LEON ERMANTRAUT—Forward

ERMANTRAUT, who came to us from the Aquinas reserves, is playing at forward. He shoots from all positions on the court with equal accuracy. It may take him a little time to become accustomed to the methods of East High's mentor, but once he hits his stride, there can be no telling what he will do. Ermantraut will not be back next season.

Without detracting from the achievements of the regulars, it must be admitted that it is the scrubs who keep the first team in top form, and receive very little recognition for it. HARRY LEVENBERG, Senior Champion

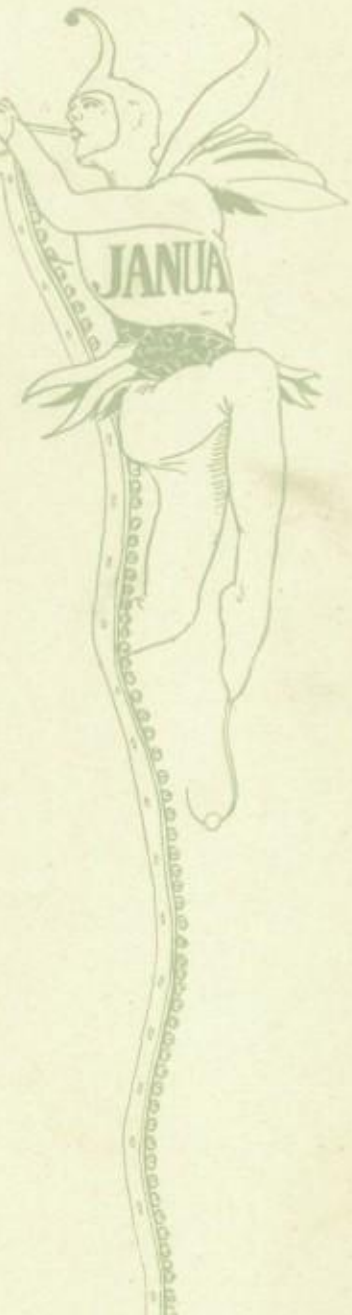
THE success of the tennis team is in large part due to the efforts of Coach Paul McGhee. The team should duplicate its fine record next season, as much of the old material is still in school. Harry Levenberg emerged from the fall tennis tournament as Senior Champion; Samuel Poze ranked first among the sophomores. Tom Brown and Stanley Frankel were finalists in the Junior section.



Wrestling

The wrestling tournament was not held until after the Janua had gone to press, and consequently we were unable to show a team picture here. However, the team is deserving of some mention as the boys are working hard under Coach McKay, and are sure to have a successful season.

Track

Fall track consists almost entirely of cross-country running, but the team is now in training for the indoor season. With the veterans, Bowie, Baker, Emma, Benedetto and Leslie, the team should be strong.

Hockey

At the time the Janua went to the printer, Hockey had not got under way. Nevertheless, with the wealth of available material, East High should be represented by a dependable team.

Skating

East High will, without doubt, compete again in the Lake Placid skating tournament. All of last year's team is now in school, and should rank high in the scoring.

Skiing

The Ski Club has again organized, and promises fun and instruction to its members. It is a live group which seems to prove popular with the students.

Cheer Leader

East High has been proud of her cheer leader this term. Ambrose "Red" Barker has put a pep and snap into the cheering not often inspired by a high school leader. We know that he has aided the teams by his efforts; all of us like him a lot.

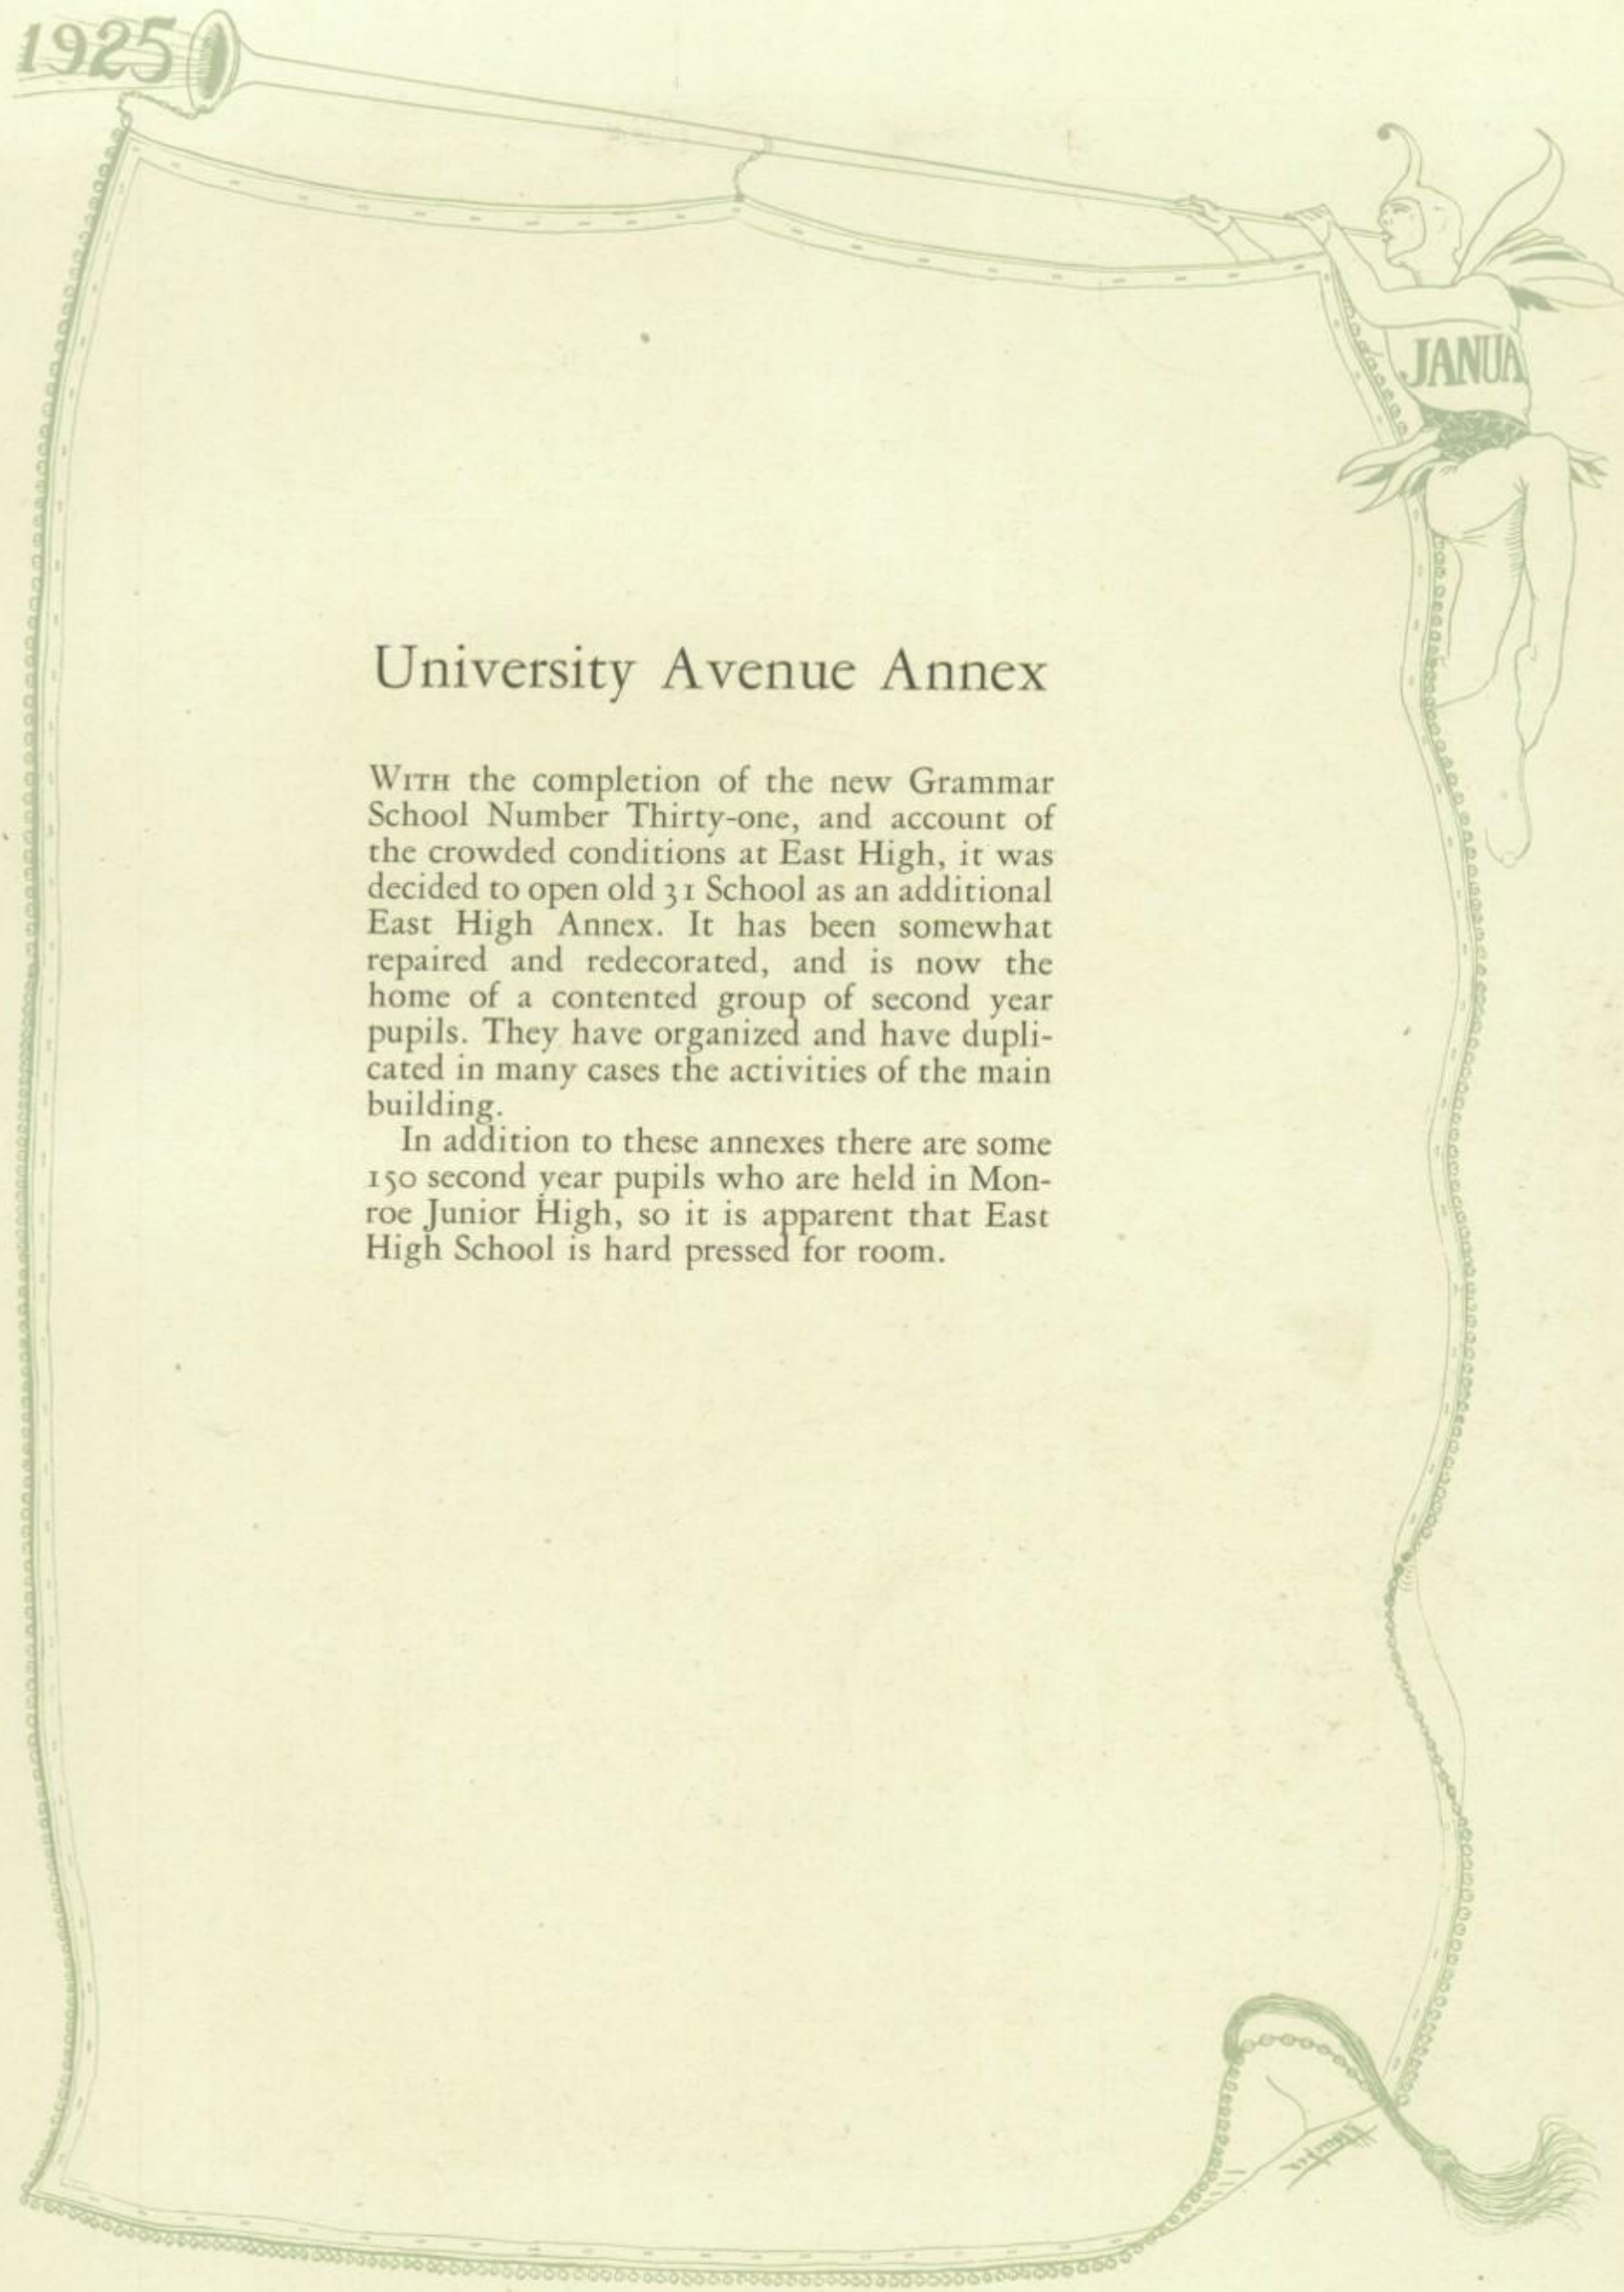
The Goodman Street Annex

In January, 1921, it was decided that East High School could not accommodate in the building itself the new freshman class just graduated from the grammar schools. Thus it was decided to use another building as an annex, and the plant of the American Chicle Company on South Goodman Street was procured. It was here that we, the Class of January, 1924, made our debut as part of East High School, and as we were the first class to occupy the old chiclet factory, we feel a closer connection with it than otherwise might be the case. We have an endearing recollection that will stick of ripping, sawing, banging, and dragging above, below and on either side of us. But we liked the old place and we are glad we were able to be there, if only for a short time.

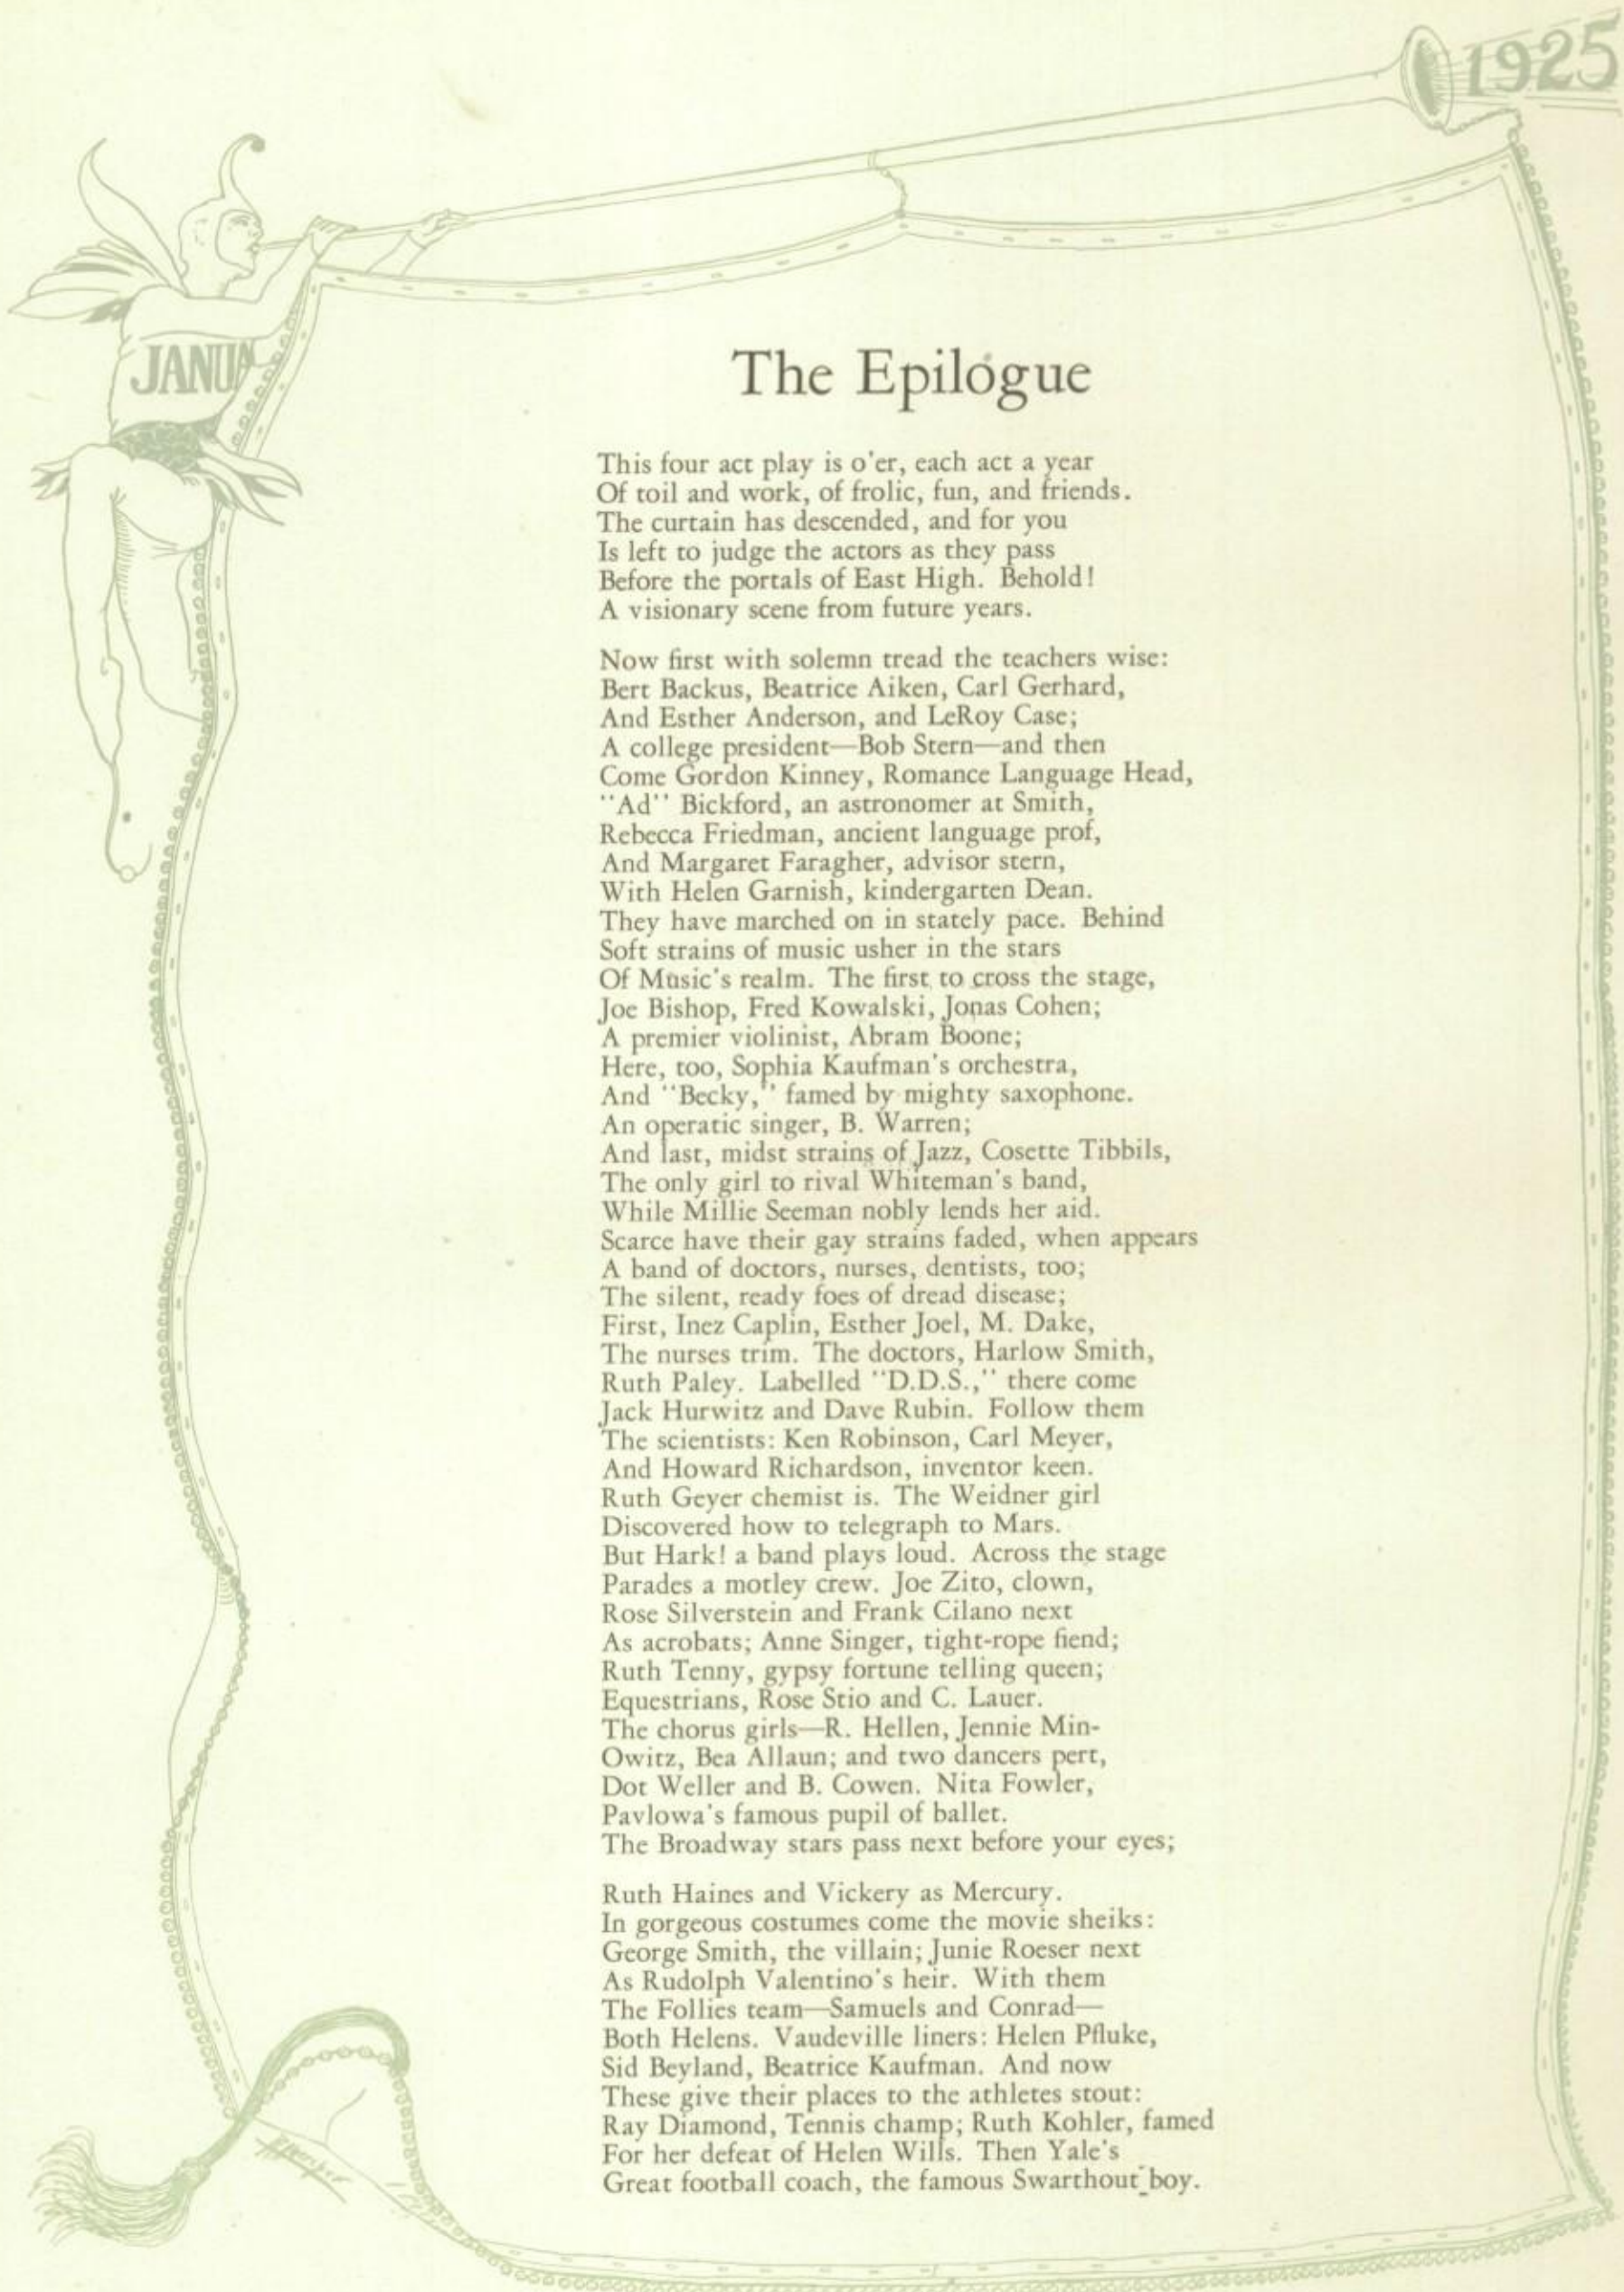
At present most of the building is given over to the Technical Department of East High School, to cooking and sewing, and part time school, only enough academic pupils being held to fill in the schedule.



University Avenue Annex

With the completion of the new Grammar School Number Thirty-one, and account of the crowded conditions at East High, it was decided to open old 31 School as an additional East High Annex. It has been somewhat repaired and redecorated, and is now the home of a contented group of second year pupils. They have organized and have duplicated in many cases the activities of the main building.

In addition to these annexes there are some 150 second year pupils who are held in Monroe Junior High, so it is apparent that East High School is hard pressed for room.

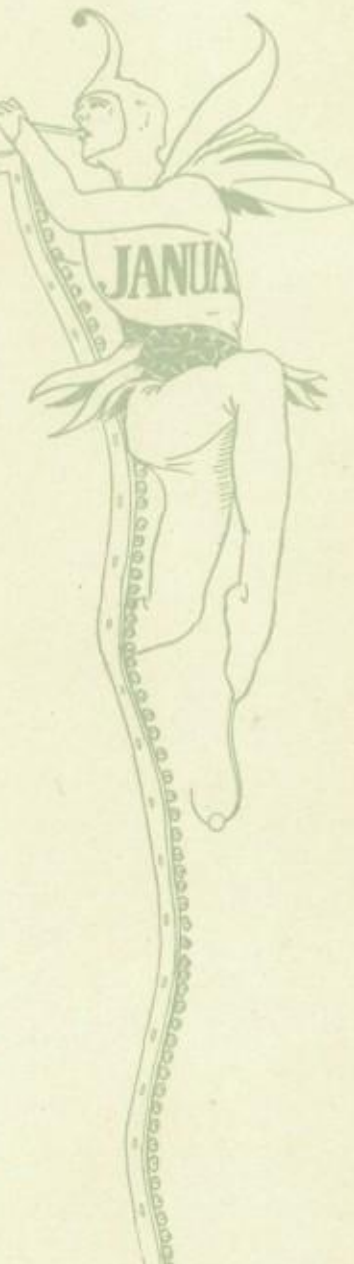


The Epilogue

This four act play is o'er, each act a year
Of toil and work, of frolic, fun, and friends.
The curtain has descended, and for you
Is left to judge the actors as they pass
Before the portals of East High. Behold!
A visionary scene from future years.

Now first with solemn tread the teachers wise:
Bert Backus, Beatrice Aiken, Carl Gerhard,
And Esther Anderson, and LeRoy Case;
A college president—Bob Stern—and then
Come Gordon Kinney, Romance Language Head,
"Ad" Bickford, an astronomer at Smith,
Rebecca Friedman, ancient language prof,
And Margaret Faragher, advisor stern,
With Helen Garnish, kindergarten Dean.
They have marched on in stately pace. Behind
Soft strains of music usher in the stars
Of Music's realm. The first to cross the stage,
Joe Bishop, Fred Kowalski, Jonas Cohen;
A premier violinist, Abram Boone;
Here, too, Sophia Kaufman's orchestra,
And "Becky," famed by mighty saxophone.
An operatic singer, B. Warren;
And last, midst strains of Jazz, Cosette Tibbils,
The only girl to rival Whiteman's band,
While Millie Seeman nobly lends her aid.
Scarce have their gay strains faded, when appears
A band of doctors, nurses, dentists, too;
The silent, ready foes of dread disease;
First, Inez Caplin, Esther Joel, M. Dake,
The nurses trim. The doctors, Harlow Smith,
Ruth Paley. Labelled "D.D.S.," there come
Jack Hurwitz and Dave Rubin. Follow them
The scientists: Ken Robinson, Carl Meyer,
And Howard Richardson, inventor keen.
Ruth Geyer chemist is. The Weidner girl
Discovered how to telegraph to Mars.
But Hark! a band plays loud. Across the stage
Parades a motley crew. Joe Zito, clown,
Rose Silverstein and Frank Cilano next
As acrobats; Anne Singer, tight-rope fiend;
Ruth Tenny, gypsy fortune telling queen;
Equestrians, Rose Stio and C. Lauer.
The chorus girls—R. Hellen, Jennie Min-
Owitz, Bea Allaun; and two dancers pert,
Dot Weller and B. Cowen. Nita Fowler,
Pavlowa's famous pupil of ballet.
The Broadway stars pass next before your eyes;

Ruth Haines and Vickery as Mercury.
In gorgeous costumes come the movie sheiks:
George Smith, the villain; Junie Roeser next
As Rudolph Valentino's heir. With them
The Follies team—Samuels and Conrad—
Both Helens. Vaudeville liners: Helen Pfluke,
Sid Beyland, Beatrice Kaufman. And now
These give their places to the athletes stout:
Ray Diamond, Tennis champ; Ruth Kohler, famed
For her defeat of Helen Wills. Then Yale's
Great football coach, the famous Swarthout boy.



The Epilogue (Continued)

Olympic athletes throng: H. Freckleton,
Bert Loeser. Eli Bensky, Sophy "Greff"—
The first in golf. Upon each brow there rests
A laurel wreath. But see! still others crowd
In pageant of the future years; the ones
Who strive to beautify with brush or pen—
Our artists: Lois Gottschalk, Ruth Bauer,
And Russell Kaercher; while as model comes
R. Turner, and Bert Davidson, sculptor;
Designer, Wanda James; Sam Shulsky then,
As editor of Hearst's. B. Culkin, too,
An authoress; Ruth Fagan on Life's staff;
And Mary Springstead, free verse poetess.
Then Vahan Abkarian, the critic great.
With these are Bernard Schneider, journalist;
Sports dopester, Morrie Strassburg is; while two
Scenarios write: E. Groh, Bob Hamilton;
Interpreter of Shakespeare, E. Williams.
Scarce have these passed when come the Senators:
Ruth Ornstein, N. Oscola; then Ray Gupp
And Jessie Fauman, Harriet Byer
And E. VanAlmkerk, congressmen. A boss
In politics, Jack Kramer; John Henry,
Ambassador to England's shores; Japan's
Prime Minister, Takagi; judges each
Fred Robinson and Flossie Beyland, too,
Bob Goetzman, Minnie Kublanov, who are
Detectives; then Bub Greene, Hans Weilbye, both
Of the marines; Lieutenant, H. Richards.

The Herald summons next the business group.
Ed Rysewyk, electrician; lawyers all:
Lyn Warren, Alfred Vragel, Edith Bueg.
Who deal with cases in the courts. Here, too,
Ward Carpenter, the bootlegger, who deals
In other cases. Expert soda clerk
Whose choice confections tempt the glutton's eye
Is friend Dean Critchell; Erma Metcalf now
Is research dietitian at East High.
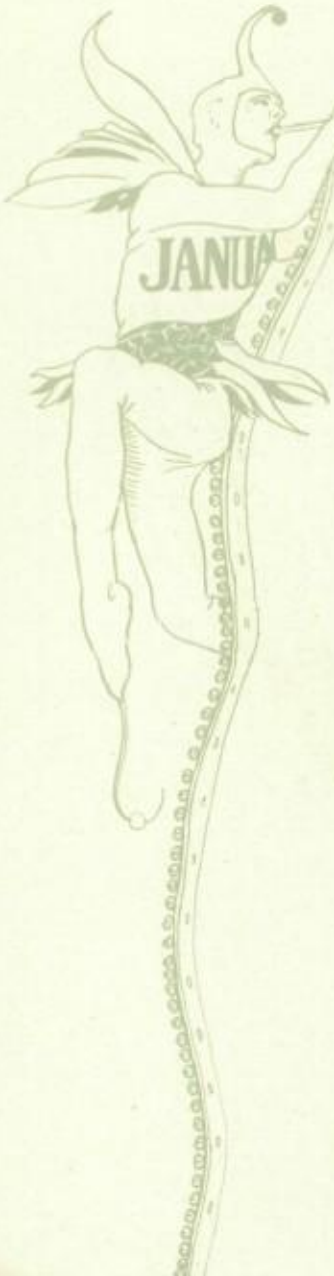
Both Frank Kalwas and Kaz Karpinski are Renowned draftsmen. George LaMont appears
In cap and apron as a chef, behind
With haughty mien comes Isidor Weinstein
The manager of Waldorf's one-armed lunch.
Hard on his heels with noiseless, springing tread
There come Ruth Marcott. Aimee Meyer, too,
Waitresses both. E. Schneider is cashier.
Here are the journalists: mark as they pass
The faces that we know amid the throng;
See, Yetta Schwartz and Mildred Bliss are there;
Rose Eber, cub reporter; Margaret Burns,
Rose Conti, David Toole run Linotypes
And give the daily papers to the world.
A tailor, Charles Popelle, appears. With him
Emanuel Brown, a carpenter;
George Kass, a taxi driver. A modiste
Is Beatrice Goldstein. Pressing close behind
Come Daurice Longley. stock promoter smooth,
And Goldie Slotnick, manufacturess
Of soaps and perfumes under Colgate's name.
A little band of toilers at East High
Files past. Ruth Shaw, the famous lunch room head



The Epilogue (Continued)

Who fed East High School students for a week
On sawdust and synthetic applesauce
At total cost of thirty-seven cents,
Comes first. Behind her staggers Joe Levine,
A science teacher grey. His grizzled beard
Sweeps to the floor and swishes 'round his feet;
And Rusty Cohen, the itinerant
Restaurateur dispenses hot canines.
Jane Hurlburt heads East High School's newest course
In dermatism; Thelma Snider and
Joe Schreiber are her two subordinates.
Burt White's a Wall Street broker keen, as are
Julian Aresty and Oc Gunkler, too,
Who sell gold bricks. Rich social leaders all
Are Orpah Blakely, Helen Cameron,
And Lillian Seidell. An English Earl
Has wedded Kathryn Miller, and three friends
Fare with her to the ancentral estates
Of Myrtle Levinson, assertive wife
To an Italian Count, who seeks to gain
The ballot for Italian women. Here
Appears a manager of Broadway's plays,
Isadore Berger. Women's costumers
Are Vera Isaacs, Thelma Cohen, and
T. Neumark, their apprentice. Ralph Gibaud
Teaches stage dancing. Meety Grineff writes
Learned theses on psychology. These three,
In masculine attire typify
The modern business woman: Anna Rose,
M. Rosenberg, and Elsi Lisser. Next
Joe Press and Sally Russo, who direct
The "Little Russia" movement in New York.

And last of all come those who serve mankind
In any guise. Jeth Davis saves the souls
Of Hottentots in darkest Africa;
And missionaries to the scented isles
Of Nippon are Chuck Francis, Helen Kress,
And Florence Riley; while in India
Joe Hertzberg entertains the pariahs
And outcasts with his newest radio.
Ruth Myers is the kindly matron of
An orphanage; and Mildred Messinger
Serves pie to hungry tramps from her back door.
Rose Roncone and Lucille Reuschle combat
The menace of the slums through social work,
And Celia Goldman, dressed as Santa Claus,
Exhorts the passing throng at Christmas tide
To give their pennies for the hungry poor.

But suddenly the vision fades and dies;
The mighty pageant of the future years
Is gone. The Herald sounds one final blast,
One parting flourish, on his trumpet as
The curtain falls forever on the stage.
Their records at East High are written and
They pass beyond her portals into Life,
Where Father Time, with his recording pen
Will write upon a fresh page in the book
The deeds and misdeeds through the future years
Of those whose fate and lot were cast with us,
The Class of January, 'twenty-five.

Now take a course in Business

THERE is nothing more interesting, nothing cleaner or pays so well as a business profession. After leaving East High two courses will be open to you—a greater education along the lines you have been following or a business training, at the R. B. I. which in a short time will pay you big dividends. A good many high school graduates choose the latter—it is safe, sure and offers unlimited opportunities for advancement.

SINCE R·B·I 1863

The following courses are taught capably by experienced instructors

Stenography	Accounting
Shorthand	Commercial Law
Bookkeeping	Secretarial, etc.

Mental Pictures

NOTHING unusual—it happens every day. Every day your picture is taken by countless cameras of the mind. Friendly, curious, casual, or critically searching—the eyes of those about you—silent mental cameras—are photographing you as you appear day after day.

Most of us like to lose the "dressed up" feeling in the careless ease of a well tailored suit that lets us forget all about it as soon as we put it on.

In Goodman & Suss Clothes, "23 Point Hand-Tailored," grace of line and faultless fit is retained long after the purchase is forgotten. They are the kind of clothes that will stand a "close-up" anytime—anywhe-e.

Can YOU

Find a Letter in Your Own Files?

WHEN you want an important letter quickly —can your file clerk always produce it? Can you walk over to your files and find the record you want—right now?

Hundreds of actual time tests throughout the country show that the

"Y and E" Direct Name System

enables a clerk of average intelligence to produce any piece of correspondence in ten seconds or less.

Let our SYSTEM SERVICE man demonstrate how this system can speed up your filing department.
